

Jason Matney, PhD

Dr. Jason Matney is an Associate Professor at UC Davis Cancer Center in Sacramento, California. Formerly, he was a Clinical Assistant Professor at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where he hosted medical physics lectures for UNC radiation oncology residents and North Carolina State University veterinary students. Jason trained at the M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, Texas and Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. His research interests include respiratory motion management, stereotactic body radiation therapy, brachytherapy and surface guided radiation therapy.