

Lonny Trestrail

Lonny Trestrail is a medical physicist at Pacific Crest Medical Physics. He earned his bachelor's degree in computer science at California State University, Chico while involved with developing radiation therapy treatment planning software and specializing in end-user efficiency design. He earned a master's degree in medical physics from the University of New Mexico. Mr. Trestrail is originally from Happy Camp, California and he has four cats: Pixel & Dot, Poppie & Dinkie.